“ My dear friend, it's with a heavy heart that I say how much you'll be missed in life. We shared 48 years of friendship that had so many good times & quite a few laughs along the way too...like your saxophone night...that one still makes me smile when I think about it. So, even though you're gone from us here...I will always be grateful for your friendship and honored to have called you my friend.

“ We loved John's sense humor, he always had a smile on his face and it was infectious. He was a walking encyclopedia of Rock, and we spent many hours talking about musicians, songs, albums, and concerts. I only had a few chances to hear him play guitar, but what I heard revealed how talented he was. We'll miss his wit, smile, and conversations.

“ Our hearts are broken. We spent decades of New Year's Eve parties, friends' thanksgivings, vacations and fireside parties together. Not to mention the endless laughing whenever we attempted to play a new game. So many stories and so much laughter... I am so grateful for the time we had with him even though it was too short. I am sure he is playing a heavy metal favorite right now.

“ John's loss leaves an emptiness that cannot be filled. His humor was like no other and he could make me laugh until I cried. I treasure the memories of game nights, New Year's Eves, friendsgivings, vacations and road trips. I hope that you and Mr. Peanut can become friends; maybe even start a band together. I miss you friend.

“ John was a good person inside and out. I'm lucky to have been able to call him friend. What I always remember about John is that he taught himself to play guitar and then took guitar lessons so he could learn to read sheet music. Rest in peace John.

“ A couple of thoughts, the humor level of the world has dropped along with flannel stock. I will forever miss our fireside chats ranging from nothing to everything. I could always count on John to shoot some pool in the barn while listening to tunes with me. There are thousands of other great memories to share. I will miss you.
