“ Ron was a long-time craftsman in the Copy Products model shop at Kodak, but for quite a while he worked on assignment to the feeder development lab in the design group. There, Ron was a trusted member of our team, working right alongside of our technician, so when he went to the shop to build something new for us he knew exactly what problems we were trying to solve. He worked hard every day and often contributed valuable design ideas along the way. That combination of skills -- along with a friendly, outgoing demeanor that fellow Kodakers remembered long after they'd forgotten his role in the work -- made Ron a unique teammate. Most of all, he was a good friend and an honest man. I don't think I've seen him in 35 years, but I still miss him!

“ Mary and family,
I am so sorry for your loss. I truly enjoyed Ronnie's company, wine conversations and dinners that we all enjoyed. I won't forget his infectious smile.
