Schickler, Susan Mary

Rochester: Tuesday, March 22, 2016 age 66. Predeceased by her father, Eugene Schickler and her brother, Thomas. Survived by her husband, Robert Good; children, Camille (Darren) Houpt and Emily Good; grandchildren, Hannah, Levi and Cora; mother, Therese Schickler; siblings, Peter Schickler, Barb Schickler (Sandy Lawrence), Amy (Michael) Thornton, Meg (Craig) LeBeau, Stephen Schickler and Martha (Thomas) Fantauzzo; many nieces, nephews and cousins.

Known as "Farmer Sue" to many in the neighborhood and community because of her lifelong love of gardening, she created "Genesis Farm", a flower and vegetable stand near Strong Memorial Hospital. It was an oasis of peace and a beacon of life in a very busy neighborhood. She worked for more than 25 years as an Art Teacher and Education Specialist at Hillside Children's Center. She made art throughout her life, recycling and repurposing materials to brighten the lives of those around her. She had an innate love of children, full of creativity that captured the imagination of little ones. She especially loved to care for her grandchildren. Sue loved the woods, where she built a rustic cabin with her family, honed her knowledge of plants, and made maple syrup. She fought an eight year cancer battle with amazing courage, grace and dignity. She kept her sense of humor intact in spite of the odds against her.

Friends may call at the Leo M. Bean and Sons Funeral Home Monday 4-7. A Celebration of Life Service will be held Tuesday 11AM at Downtown United Presbyterian Church, 121 Fitzhugh St. N., Rochester, NY 14614. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Seedfolk City Farm or Rochester Committee On Latin America (ROCLA).
